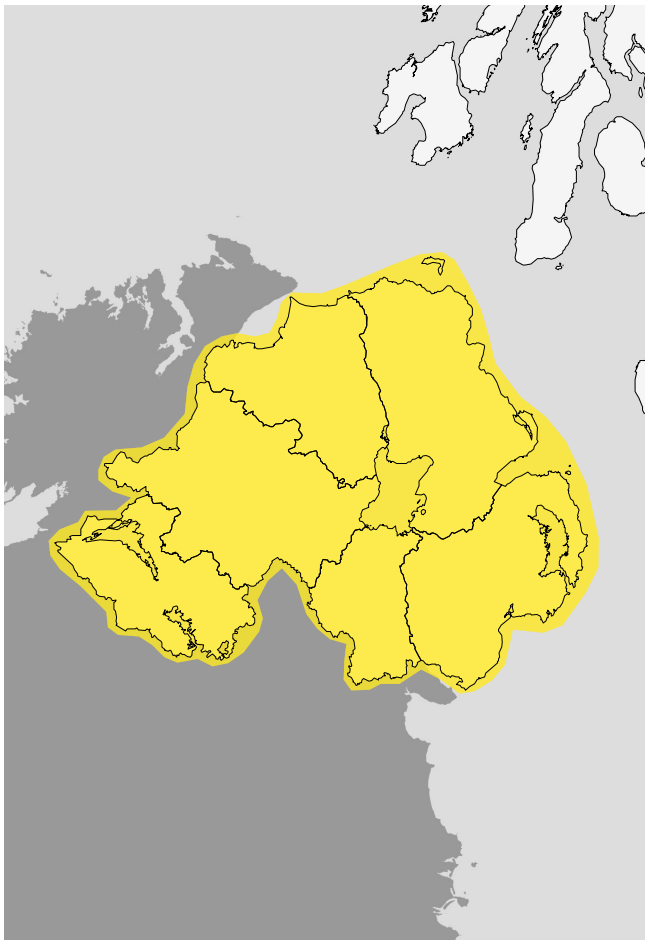
Rain & Snow

Between
00:00 Sat 23 Nov 2024 and
11:00 Sat 23 Nov 2024



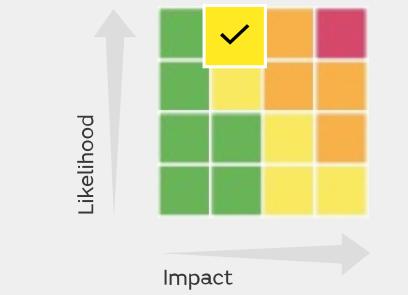
Storm Bert will bring a spell of rain, preceded by snow in places, on Friday night into Saturday which may cause some disruption

What to expect

- Some roads and railways affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services
- A few homes and businesses flooded
- Spray and flooding on roads will make journey times longer
- Some interruption to power supplies and other services

Further details

Outbreaks of rain on Friday night and into Saturday morning may be preceded by a spell of snow for a time, especially on high ground in northern and western areas. Exactly where snow falls will depend quite heavily on both elevation and the intensity of precipitation, with any snow accumulations at low levels likely small and fairly short-lived. However, there is the chance of temporary accumulations of 5-10 cm on ground typically above 150m and perhaps as much as 10-20 cm over mountain tops. Any snow will quickly revert to rain on Saturday morning, with rain accumulations of 20-30 mm likely fairly widely, and perhaps as much as 40-60 mm on more exposed hills.



✓ High likelihood of low impacts

This, in conjunction with a rapid thaw of any lying snow, may cause some surface water and river flooding.

What should I do?

Snowy, wintry weather can cause delays and make driving conditions dangerous. Keep yourself and others safe by planning your route, giving yourself extra time for your journey. Check for road closures or delays to public transport and amend plans if necessary.

If driving, make sure you have some essentials in your car in the event of any delays (e.g., warm clothing, food, water, a blanket, a torch, ice scraper/de icer, a warning triangle, high visibility vest and an in-car phone charger).

Check if your property could be at risk of flooding. If so, consider preparing a flood plan and an emergency flood kit.

People cope better with power cuts when they have prepared for them in advance. It's easy to do; consider gathering torches and batteries, a mobile phone power pack and other essential items.

Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.
